The Department of Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, and Statistics invites applications for Professor and Department Chair. The department currently has 21 tenured/tenure track research faculty, more than 100 undergraduate students and 35 graduate students in our PhD and MS programs.

The successful candidate is expected to have an active research program in mathematics, applied mathematics, or statistics, which has earned her/him international recognition, and to understand the particular needs of different components of the department. Successful candidates also will be expected to broaden participation among members of under-represented groups; demonstrate through research, teaching and/or public engagement the richness of diversity in the learning experience; demonstrate effective leadership in a diverse community of faculty, students and staff; and become an articulate and vigorous spokesperson for the department’s scientific and educational missions.

The faculty are involved in research across a wide range of sub-disciplines of mathematics, applied mathematics, and statistics, with high national and international visibility and active collaborations, and a strong record in securing external funding. Further information about the departmental research can be obtained from http://math.case.edu/, and the individual websites of the faculty members. The proximity to the prestigious CWRU School of Medicine, Cleveland Clinic, and Case School of Engineering, and to the other departments of the College of Arts and Sciences, provides a uniquely supportive environment for interdisciplinary research of our faculty members.

Minimum Qualifications: Applicants must have a Ph.D. or equivalent foreign degree in mathematics, applied mathematics, or statistics; a distinguished record of research accomplishments; evidence of excellent teaching; and demonstrate strong administrative experience, managerial skills, and a record of promoting diversity. For appointment as Professor, the candidate should have received recognition as a national and international leader in his/her chosen area.

Preferred Qualifications: An outstanding research program in an area that complements the research activity in the department; a record of attracting external funding; a commitment to effective teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels; and administrative experience in academic settings.

To Apply: Submit a cover letter; curriculum vitae; a research and scholarship statement; a teaching statement (including teaching philosophy and experience); and have at least 3 letters of recommendation sent independently. Applications may be submitted on line at http://www.mathjobs.org/jobs/cwru, or mailed to Chair Search Committee, Department of Mathematics, Applied Mathematics and Statistics, Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH 44106-7058.

Screening of applications will begin on 1/25/2016 and will continue until the position is filled. In employment, as in education, Case Western Reserve University is committed to Equal Opportunity and Diversity. Women, veterans, members of underrepresented minority groups, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.
Case Western Reserve University provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Inclusion, Diversity and Equal Opportunity at 216-368-8877 to request a reasonable accommodation. Determinations as to granting reasonable accommodations for any applicant will be made on a case-by-case basis.
